Lakers Win Three Of Three; To Wrap Up Regular Season Today

The Garrett Community College Lakers have had a busy week and will wrap up their regular season this afternoon at Potomac State College in Keyser, W.Va. Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt's team is currently 21-15, marking the fourth straight year the Lakers have won at least 20 games.

In action this past week, the Lakers dropped a 17-8 decision to nationally ranked Allegany CC last Thursday in McHenry, ripped the visiting Frostburg State University junior varsity on Friday, 11-1, dropped a 1-0 decision to host Dundalk on Saturday and could not complete the second game of that doubleheader because of rain, fell to Montgomery-Rockville at home on Sunday, 12-2, and then swept a doubleheader from visiting Prince George's CC on Tuesday, 5-4 and 4-2. The meeting with Rockville was also supposed to be a twinbill, but the first game was called in the sixth inning and the second could not be played, again because of rain.

Allegany's Scott DeHaven ALLEGANY 524 110 008-17 13 2 GARRETT 000 010 232-9 9 8 Steve Kline Todd Campos (7) Carlos Serrano (8) and Mike Belcher Brian Shaffer Matt Lawrence (2) Tom McDermott (7) Jermaine Shy (8) and Doug Bertolini David Kline (6) WP S Kline (4-0) LP Shaffer (3-1) HR ACC Scott DeHaven (1) AJ Forlano (1)

Garrett chipped away at the Trojan lead with two runs in the seventh and three in the eighth. Mike Leshok scored on a wild pitch and Angelo came home on an error to account for the seventh inning runs. Freeman rapped a two-run double and then scored on a sacrifice fly by Leshok in the eighth.

ACC then added four insurance runs in the top of the ninth on a DeHaven's fourth homer, which was a two-run shot, a run-producing double by Scott Ewell, and an RBI single by Matt Riemer.

The Lakers recorded two final runs in the bottom of the ninth on a single by Chad Sines that scored Jermaine Shy and a sacrifice fly that sent Chris Lollis home. Steve Kline earned the win on the mound and upped his personal mark to 4-0, while GCC's Brian Shaffer fell to 3-3.

Rob Hottinger finished with two singles for the Lakers, while Freeman doubled and scored two runs.

Carroll and Belcher each outdoubled a double and a single for ACC.

The Lakers rebounded on Friday with their easy win over the visiting FSU jayvees.

After the visitors took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first on an RBI triple by Eric Hallenbeck, the Lakers took the lead for good with four runs in the bottom of that inning. Freeman led off with a double and went to third on a single by Leshok. He then came home when Leshok stole second and the throw from center went into center field. Bo Bishop then doubled home Leshok and later came home on an error.

Four Laker errors led to the two runs in the second frame and DeHaven stroked his second homer, a three-run shot, to lead the four-run third.

ACC added single runs in the fourth and fifth, on an RBI single by Mike Belcher and DeHaven's third homer, respectively, before the Lakers finally got on the scoreboard in the bottom of the fifth as Rod Freeman was hit with a pitch, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on a single by Tony Angelo.

Shy scored the fourth run on a double steal.

Garrett added a single run in the second and three more in the third, as Kevin Green scored on a balk and Lollis came home on a sacrifice fly by Abb Yazzini.

They concluded their scoring with three runs in the fourth behind an RBI double by Angelo and a two-run double by Green.

Bishop finished with three of the Lakers' 14 hits, while Freeman, Angelo, Leshok, and Lollis each collected two.

Mark Rohrbaugh went the distance for the win, allowing five hits, striking out five, and walking four.

Despite the fact that Rob Hottinger allowed just two hits in the first game against Dundalk on Saturday, he still had to absorb a 1-0 loss and watch his record drop to 3-6. The lone run came in the sixth inning on a sacrifice fly by Benson.

The Lakers had excellent opportunities to score in the fourth and seventh, but came up short. Leshok led off the fourth with a double and went to third on a sacrifice, but was left stranded when Kevin Rexrode struck out the next two Laker batters.

Then in the seventh, Shy was on third base with two outs, but Doug Bertolini lined out to center field to end that threat.

The Lakers were on top 3-0 in the second game, but it was called in the top of the fourth and, because the fourth inning was not completed, they could not consider it a win.

The Lakers recorded eight hits in the first three innings and Jake Sawyers had a shutout going when the game was called.

In Sunday's game against MONT-ROCKV. 018 20-12 11 0 GARRETT 100 10-2 3 3 Mike Matthews and Ted Fabian, Ryan Harman, Tom McDermott (3), Mark Rohrbaugh (4) and Doug Bertolini WP Matthews LP Harman (3-2) HR GCC Mike Leshok (8)

Montgomery-Rockville, GCC pitchers were tagged with nine runs in the third inning and the game had to be called with one out in the top of the sixth because of rain.

The Lakers took a brief 1-0 lead on a solo homer by Leshok, his eighth of the season, in the bottom of the first inning.

Rockville responded with a single run in the top of the second and then erupted for the nine-run third inning, which featured a two-run double and RBI single by Ted Fabian, two singles by Kido Gibbon, and two Laker errors.

Rockville added two more runs in the fourth and the Lakers second run also came in that frame as Leshok scored on a ground-out by Shy.

Ryan Harman, who was relieved in the third, absorbed the loss on the mound and dropped to 3-2, while Mike Matthews allowed only three hits for the complete-game victory.

The Lakers got strong pitching efforts from Sawyers and Angelo in Tuesday's sweep over Prince George's CC.

Southern Girls Take First And Second; Boys Place Second, Third

The Southern High School girls' track team placed second in a five-team meet in Keyser last Thursday and then won a four-team meet at home Tuesday, while the Southern boys finished third in the Keyser meet and second in Tuesday's competition against two other teams.

The Lady Rams amassed 103 points at the Keyser meet, behind Keyser with 144 and ahead of Petersburg with 62, East Hardy with 26, and Union with 11.

Aaron Buser was a four-event winner, Shelli Cannon won three events, and Carrie Newcomb was a double winner for the Rams. Buser won the 100 and 300 hurdles, discus, Newcomb, 400 dash; Susan Umstot, 3,200 run; and Cannon, 200 dash. The 800 relay was also victorious.

In the boys' meet, the Southern 400 relay team placed first, while Mike Stewart finished second in the shot put and discus. The Rams finished with 79 team points, while Keyser won with 182, East Hardy second with 85, Petersburg scored 11, and Union finished with 0 points.

The Southern girls finished with 107.5 points in their own meet Tuesday, followed by University with 87, Westmar with 40.5, and Preston County with 30.

First place finishers for the Rams were: Buser, 100 hurdles; Jessica Gracie, triple jump; Sherry Browning, discus; Newcomb, 400 dash; Susan Umstot, 3,200 run; and Cannon, 200 dash. The 800 relay was also victorious.

The Southern boys placed second with 80 points, while Preston won with 74 and University High finished third with 40.

First place winners for the Rams were: Jon Sines, discus; Adam Harvey, high jump; Bryan Clickener, 1,600 run; Jon Lane, triple jump; and Mike Stewart, shot put.

The Southern girls, coached by Bob Quick, and the boys, coached by Carl Booth, will travel to Hampshire this afternoon for a tri-meet with the Trojans and Frankfort. Then they will compete in the Beall Invitational next Tuesday.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

MOTHER'S DAY DINNER
A Mother's Day Smorgasbord will be served at the Aurora fire hall on May 10. Hours are from noon until 4 p.m. and donations for the meal are $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

MAY FELLOWSHIP
Women of Union District will join for a May Fellowship luncheon and program at the Maple Spring Church on Friday, May 1. The covered dish meal will begin at noon and the program at 1 p.m. Bread, beverage, and table service will be provided by the host church. The theme for this year's program is "Call for a Compassionate Community" and this is also the time of the offering of the least coin. Everyone is welcome to attend.

LAUGHTER PRACTICED
Aurora Extension Homemakers practiced using laughter when they met on April 21 in the home of Martha Bolyard. Using a clown doll which laughed when pressed, the hostess stressed the contagion of laughter and its healing properties. Members present shared humorous stories and happenings for the lesson, "Laughter's Magic."

Virginia Martin provided devotions based on II Corinthians 5:17.

A committee to update the bylaws was appointed, namely Virginia Martin and Martha Bolyard. The area meeting will be held in Kingwood June 4. A booklet concerning the Cranesville Swamp is available through the Extension office. The club will be paying for its president, Opal Myers, to attend the county President's Day trip. Winner of the pig-in-the-poke was Opal Myers.

Showing an Afghan she had completed during her recuperation from knee surgery and a new one begun of scrap yarns, the hostess displayed the special feature.

Other than those mentioned, Dorothy Spaid and Fern Jamison were in attendance.

THOSE WHO ARE ILL
Dayton Alexander of Aurora was taken Friday by ambulance to the Clarksville VA Hospital where he

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties remains a patient.

Grace Knotts of Crellin, formerly of Aurora, is currently a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital where she was admitted Saturday.

Tom Adams returned Saturday to his home at Aurora after having been released from Ruby Memorial Hospital.

Ellis Harsh of Bridge-water, Va., is recovering from a recent heart attack at his home there. A son of the late John M. and Edith Harsh, he is a former Eglon resident. His sister, Ellen Harsh Wheeler, is a patient in Cleveland Clinic where she was scheduled for heart surgery on April 23. She and her husband, Wayne Wheeler, reside in New Philadelphia, Ohio.

Paul Henline of Germania is recovering at Garrett County Memorial Hospital from recent surgery there.

James "Bud" Winters of Waynesburg, Pa., is in a cast as the result of a severe ankle fracture sustained during an ATV accident. His wife, Dottie Jo, is now a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital where she underwent angioplasty last Thursday.

Adrian Stemple of Aurora was admitted Saturday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for complications resulting from this winter's accident in Greensboro, N.C.

PERSONAL MENTION
Mrs. Ruby Helmick of Winchester, Va., visited last week at Silver Lake with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil D. Helmick.

Visiting Sunday in Philippi with Tom and Lillian Mick were Frank and Wilda Stemple of Aurora.

Members of the Aurora I.O.O.F. and Rebekah Lodges visited last Tuesday with persons residing in the I.O.O.F. Home at Elkins. Those making the trip were Frank and Wilda Stemple, Harold Harsh, Mary Stemple, and Rennie Conrad.

Bonnie Douglas of Ashland, Ky., visited recently with her mother, Mrs. Maxine Hauser, Stemple Ridge.

Kristi Markwood, bride-elect of Rick Myers, Aurora, was honored Sunday with a bridal shower held at the Trinity United Methodist Church, Terra Alta. The affair was planned by her attendants and attended by friends and family.

The Gortner Union Church choir and both the adult and children's choirs of the Maple Spring Church traveled Sunday to Sunny-side Church of the Brethren to attend the West Marva District annual sing and participate in the presentations.

Claude and Eldean Poling of Shepherdstown were Easter weekend visitors with her father, Harold Harsh, on Stemple Ridge.

Mariah Freeman celebrated her 6th birthday Sunday evening with a dinner, Little Mermaid cake, and ice cream at the home of her parents, Ron and Jana Freeman, and sisters, Skylar and Jaamine, at Aurora. A special guest was her grandmother, Etta Freeman, of West Palm Beach, Fla., who spent last week with the Freemans. Her local grandparents, Scott and Dean Sisler, and her great-grandmother, Maxine Hauser and Ernestine Sisler, were also present, along with aunts, uncles, cousins and her friend, Lauren Roth.

FESTIVAL ROYALTY CHOSEN
At the April 23 Buckwheat pageant, local persons named to positions of royalty include the following: King Buckwheat, Kevin Corbin; King Fireman, Larry Shaffer; and Princess Crystal Roberson. Kevin is the son of Richard and Sue Corbin of Eglon and Crystal is the daughter of Sue Roberson, Aurora, and the late Richard Roberson. Larry is the son of Robert and Wilma Shaffer of Horse Shoe Run and lives there with his wife, Nancy, and daughters, Sharon and Erica.

OGUABUS SOCIETY MEETS
The Aurora Chapter of the Oguabus Society held its annual meeting April 25 at Mary's Restaurant in Kingwood. President Mike Teets presented personalized awards to: Ron Wotringer, Wendell Teets, Marvin "Bucky" Bolyard, John Myers, David Layman, Everett Selders, Jim Teets, and John Adams. Former member Russell Z. Feather died during the past year.

HABITAT MEETING
A meeting to finalize plans for the contract to build a home for Thomas and Jennifer Fint and their children in the Aurora area will be held by Habitat for Humanity of Preston County on Sunday, May 3, at 3 p.m. in the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

It is hoped that the house can be erected and put under roof this year for the Fints who have a lot in the Shaffer development on U.S. 50 near Aurora. Both financial help and donations of labor and materials are being sought.

One offering being made locally is that a yard, craft, and bake sale is planned for May 23 at the Maple Spring Church with proceeds going to this project.

TRUE DEATH
Cheryl Edwards True, 46, of Las Vegas died there at her home on Sunday, April 26. She was the daughter of Alverta Edwards of Aurora and the late Ralph Edwards and the body will be brought to Stemple Ridge Church for services and burial.

Mrs. True was employed by Caesar's Palace, Las Vegas, as a director of entertainment. She was a 1963 graduate of Aurora High School class of 1963.

Surviving in addition to her mother is one son, Larry True, Las Vegas, one brother and five sisters.

VISIT CHICAGO
By special invitation of "Chief" and Judy Hamilton and the North Chicago Angel Drill Team, seven Eglon and Aurora residents spent the weekend in North Chicago, where they attended the North Chicago Drill Team Competition along with other activities.

Hosting the group in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were Tom and Ruth Rogers and family and Pat Wroble, all friends of the Frantz. The group stayed at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill. Those from the area who went were Donald, Neva, Melvin and Missy Frantz, Melvin and Rose Ina Harsh, Connie and Amy Stemple, Carla Fint, Christina White and Laura Poling.

Missy Frantz was a member of the team while they resided in Chicago and her mother assisted in the drill training. At the competition, instructors "Chief" and Judy Hamilton were honored by past and present members of The Angels for "their steady dedication and devotion over the years."

Also on the weekend agenda was a bus tour of Chicago which included the Chicago Loop area; Sears Tower, the world's tallest building with 110 floors, Skydeck on 103rd; the seven floors of shopping at Water Tower Mall; tour of Michigan Avenue, Chicago River and Lakeshore Drive with the Chief providing commentary.

Terra Alta PTO To Hold Spring Dinner/Carnival

The Terra Alta PTO (Parent Teacher Organization) will hold its annual Spring Dinner and Carnival on Friday, May 8, at the Terra Alta Elementary East Preston Jr. High schools.

Dinner will be served from 4-6 p.m. and will include ham and gravy, sweet or mashed potatoes, green beans, cole slaw, cranberry sauce, rolls, desserts, and beverages. The cost will be $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, and $2 for children under 12. Pre-schoolers eat free.

The carnival will be held from 6:30 - 8 p.m. and will include raffles, games, a white elephant sale, a plant sale, face painting, cake walks, and "lots of fun," according to a carnival spokesperson.

"Boy" Father Turns 40! (On May 4)
Dear Joe, You married an "older" woman and became a father before you were 20. Now, Hon, you've been a terrific husband and father all these years, but I had to tell the world that you're 40. After all, you've been shouting from the rooftops that I'm already 40. Happy Birthday, old man. Welcome to the "interesting" age.
Love, Pam

Potomac Edison To Lease, Test Electric Vans

The Potomac Edison Company and its affiliates in the Allegheny Power System on April 15 signed an agreement with Ford Motor Company to lease and test advanced, battery-powered electric vans. The agreement was signed at the Greater New York Auto Show held in New York City. Potomac Edison will be among the first in the world to put these vehicles of the future on the road.

According to Potomac Edison President Alan J. Noia, company employees will use the Ford Ecostar vans for utility fleet applications. "We are pleased to participate in Ford's program for electric vehicles and look forward to seeing how the Ecostar performs in practical, on-the-road situations," Noia said. "Potomac Edison will be receiving two of the Ecostars for use by our meter readers, servicemen, and customer relations employees as they go about their daily business serving customers in our three-state service territory."

Concern for the environment and energy efficiency prompted Potomac Edison to take the lead in this research and development project. "Electric vehicles emit none of the gases now released by conventional internal combustion engines," added Noia. "They are quiet, use electricity in an efficient manner, and will help our country reduce its dependence on foreign oil. Emissions from fuels burned to produce electricity, which, in the case of Potomac Edison is locally mined coal, are now and will in the future be even more efficiently controlled as technology increases and our company completes work to comply with the Clean Air Act Amendments. Eventual widespread use of electric vehicles will dramatically improve air quality."

Noia said that Potomac Edison will not only test the performance capabilities of these new vehicles, but will also study the infrastructure needed to service them.

"Although Potomac Edison experimented with electric vehicles in the 1960s, automakers have come along way in the development of more sophisticated models than were feasible at that time. For example, the Ford Ecostars use advanced sodium sulfur batteries as opposed to today's lead acid batteries," Noia said.

"We will look at many of the considerations that all users of electric cars will face, such as availability of safe battery-charging facilities, proper electric circuits for charging batteries at customers' homes, and special electric rates for charging during off-peak hours. Off-peak charging of car batteries could increase the efficient loading of our generating equipment."

Noia added that the company's history of environmental stewardship remains a key factor in working with the electric vehicles.

"In order to protect the environment, we need to move into the future with solid ideas on saving energy and valuable natural resources. Our customers rely on Potomac Edison to take the lead in these types of research projects, which will help ensure that electric vehicles will be as safe, reliable, and efficient as possible. We are proud to be able to supply a clean, efficient energy source -- electricity -- that will fuel these vehicles of the future," he said.

In signing the agreement, Ford officials said the Ecostar "represents the most revolutionary automotive development in our lifetime."

Nazarene Church Offers Counseling

The Oakland Church of the Nazarene will offer free counseling during the month of May particularly to those persons who are victims of post traumatic stress disorder resulting from armed service in the Korean, Vietnam, or Desert Storm conflicts. Persons are invited to contact Rev. Bruce Knorrp, pastor, to make an appointment for confidential conversation, concern, and prayer.

Persons may reach Pastor Knorrp at 334-9161.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1992 B-1

STOP PLAYING WITH ARTHRITIS

Some day, a cure will be found for Arthritis, a disease which has ravaged the efforts of thousands of research workers who are trying to solve this universal problem.

Stop trying every new pain reliever advertised by the medicine men who apparently promise much in their ads and television commercials. Analyze what they say and you can see they definitely offer you little help. Place yourself in your physician's care. Visit him at the regular intervals he suggests. Let him prescribe the medicine he thinks will do you the most good. He is an expert.

STICKING YOUR NECK OUT

How many times have you heard someone say, "I'm not sticking my neck out?"

Why not? Could it be insecurity or fear? We need not be afraid... if we go that extra mile for the glory of God, armed with the faith that "all things work together for good to them that love God." (Rom. 8:28) Faith and charity should walk hand in hand.

"Though I have all faith... and have not charity, I am nothing." (1 Cor. 13:2)

If you desire to help your fellow man, worship God each Sabbath. He will strengthen you with the courage you need to go that extra mile. Don't be afraid to stick your neck out. Go ahead and stand tall! You will never be sorry.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE LIVING STONES

May 3, 1992

Background Scripture: 1 Peter 2:1-25
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 62:1-23

It seems to me that I've read something on the Saturday religious page of our newspaper about a few Christian rock bands that try to interpret the Gospel of Jesus Christ to young people through rock music. If I were contemplating such a ministry -- and I'm not! I might be tempted to call my musical group "The Living Stones" (with perhaps some apologies to "The Rolling Stones").

There is a good Biblical precedent, I Peter 2:4, 5 -- "Come to him, to that living stone, rejected by men but in God's sight chosen and precious; and like living stones be yourselves built into a spiritual house..." Peter uses an interesting analogy here in a passage that is sometimes summed up as "the stoniness of Christ." Actually, his analogy of a "living stone" seems an absolute contradiction. Stones are not living things. They are the very epitome of that which is without life. Peter is apparently aware of this contradiction and is using it knowingly to contrast Christ with the lifeless stones of the temple. For it is a "spiritual house" which we have in Christ, not a material one.

CHRIST'S "STONENESS"
We still have some trouble with that today, don't we? When we speak of the church we are likely to think primarily of the building that houses a local congregation. Or, if not the church building, then at least the church as an organization or institution. But, no matter how beautiful the church building, or how admirable the church organization, we know that the true Church of Jesus Christ is a living "spiritual house" composed of "a holy priesthood." The building gives us a good place to worship and teach and the organization helps us to equip and direct our ministries, but it is the living people of God who are the true Church.

Peter expands on this analogy, reminding his readers that Jesus is the "cornerstone chosen and precious" in God's sight. The Church is built upon him and no one else, but this living cornerstone was "rejected by men" and he recalls Psalm 118:22, "The very stone which the builders rejected has become the head of the corner" (2:7). Christ is also likened to "A stone that will make men stumble, a rock that will make them fall" (2:8) and it is certainly true that for many people Jesus, the "living stone," has been a stumbling block instead of a "cornerstone."

OUR "STONENESS"
But Peter is also concerned that we be "like living stones... built into a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ" (2:5). To be in Christ's Church, then, is not a matter of qualifying by virtue of who we are, but what he wants of us. Too often Christians act as if by being members of the church they thereby belong to a sanctified "in-group." We are in the church, not to show the world how worthy we are, but so that God can use us for his purposes. We cannot afford to chortle:

We are God's chosen few,
All others will be damned;
There is no place in Heaven for you,

We can't have Heaven crammed!

So it is with humility and commitment, not pride, that we read: "...you are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's own people..." These are not ranks to boast of, but jobs to be about. For we are all those things, not because of our great worthiness, but because God has a job for us to do: "that you may declare the wonderful deeds of him who called you out of darkness into his marvelous light" (2:9).

Too often we act like "God's gang," instead of what we are called to be: God's living stones.

COVER
STORYA brand-new 'Dayo' dawns for Delta Burke

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

This past year, Delta Burke has been taking it easy. "I really didn't want to work a lot, because ('Designing Women') was an emotionally difficult place for five years," she says. "The work was great and it was great for people to watch. But what it took to get that was not great."

"Designing Women," in which Burke played the delightfully self-centered Suzanne Sugarbaker, earned her two Emmy nominations. But it also gained her notoriety. The tabloids had a field day with her weight problems and her difficulties with the series' producers, which led to their decision not to renew her contract after the 1990-91 season. (Burke claimed that the producers made her a scapegoat and created a hostile atmosphere on the set. Producers Linda Bloodworth-Thomson and Harry Thomason suggested that Burke was impossible to work with.)

"The frustrating thing was at the time I would not be believed," Burke says. "But that's the way things are set up in life, you know? I learned a lot from it. I grew a lot from it."

and I had to find my own inner strength from it. So all in all, I guess it was good. I can still have nightmares about certain things - and I do. But you have to find a way to let it go. So I wanted a year to recover from that, travel with Mac (her husband, Gerald McRaney), see my family and stuff."

Professionally, Burke has limited herself to putting together her new ABC series with producer Barry Kemp ("Coach"), which is slated for the fall schedule, and the NBC movie "Dayo" (airing Sunday, May 3), in which she plays a woman who is revisited by her imaginary childhood playmate (played by Elijah Wood).

When I saw that script, I thought, "It makes me laugh, it makes me cry. I really like this," says Burke. "And when you find a good script, you've gotta go ahead and do it."

In scripts, Burke looks for characters who grow. "I like to see that journey with people," says Burke. "That's what I saw in 'Dayo.' And when I was playing Suzanne, she started off to be one character - very different if you watch the first two years - and she had to make a journey, because I changed so much. I thought she got more interesting. I didn't think she looked as good, but she got more interesting."

Curiously, the "Designing Women" controversy hasn't lost Burke any jobs.

"Out here, you can say anything about anybody and it doesn't seem to matter," she says. "It matters to me, but it doesn't matter to anybody else. And it doesn't stop them from hiring me. Because all it really did was make me more bankable."

In "Dayo," Delta Burke stars as a career woman who is revisited by the imaginary playmate (Elijah Wood) of her childhood. The comedy airs Sunday, May 3, on NBC.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

DAYTON'S DAVIS - Is Jonathan Winters from the Buckeye State? Can you give me any information about his early years? - B.P., Xenia, Ohio

Jonathan Winters

This star of "Davis Rules" is a native of Dayton, Ohio, where he was born Nov. 11, 1925. Winters, the son of a banker, was an only child. After service during World War II, Winters returned to Dayton and worked in radio, where he created many of his funny characters. In 1950, he moved to New York City where he worked in nightclubs. He was a contestant on "Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts," but he lost. But Winters persevered to become one of the most popular comedians today. His previous series include "And Here is the Show" (1955), "NBC Comedy Hour" (1956), "The Jonathan Winters Show" (1956-57, 1967-69), "Masquerade Party" (1958), "The Andy Williams Show" (1965-67, 1970-71), "The Wacky World of Jonathan Winters" (1972-74), "Mork & Minder" (1981-82) and "Hee Haw" (1983-84).

SEASONS GREETINGS

My husband and I were devoted record buffs when we were young, and we recall a seemingly endless list of hits and the years they were released. But neither of us can remember when Frankie Valli released "Sherry." Can you help? - T.C., Okama, Neb.

"Sherry" was a hit for Valli's group, the Four Seasons, in 1962. Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons still perform in concert.

REMEMBERING SLEZAK - Where was Walter Slezak born? I always admired his work, but I could never place his accent. I know he is dead, but I still enjoy seeing his old movies on TV. - L.A., Tampa, Fla.

This fine character actor, who was the son of the great opera tenor Leo Slezak, was born in Vienna, Austria, in 1902. His daughter Erika Slezak followed in her father's acting footsteps, she plays Viki in the daytime drama "One Life to Live." In addition to having a prestigious film career, Slezak made a number of TV appearances in such anthology series as "Studio One" and "The U.S. Steel Hour." He also portrayed the Clock King, one of the infamous villains of the "Batman" series. Slezak committed suicide in 1983. Fans who want to know more about him should read his autobiography, "What Time is the Next Swan?"

D'Angelo and Strauss can't save 'Trial'

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

In Texas, it is said, the people are larger than life, as are their stories. That's also what "Trial: The Price of Passion" (NBC, May 3 and 4) would have us believe. While not straying too far from the accepted conventions of the legal drama - a principled attorney putting his career on the line in court with his private life in shambles - "Trial" stars Peter Strauss as a defense attorney defending a woman (Beverly D'Angelo) accused of murdering her boyfriend, as well as an indigent Mexican facing the death penalty for murder. Those looking for something fresh won't find it in "Trial," but the performance of D'Angelo does much to make up for the miniseries' lack of originality. A caricature of tarty women through the ages, D'Angelo, as a woman who is more-trouble-than-a-rattlesnake-roundup, is campy fun. Strauss, by comparison, is a bit stiff and artificial, and he is not too convincing as a Southern good-ole-boy and a leading man.

A screenplay adapted from a novel, adapted from real life, "Masterpiece Theatre" is "A Perfect Hero" (PBS, May 3-24) airs in four parts on consecutive Sundays, enacting the story of rough ladies-man Hugh Fleming (Nigel Havers) whose World War II aircraft is shot down in the heat of battle, leaving his face and hands horribly burnt. Hero status is conferred on Fleming for his resolute unwillingness to give in to his disability and determination to get back on the horse that threw him. However, this drama's Anglophile cachet is its principal attraction, masking a fairly leaden, uninteresting soap with wooden characters who would probably doom a less prestigious American production. Given the American expertise at milking a sympathetic disabled character for everything he's worth, the comparatively low-key, dry manner in which Fleming handles his disability does little to inspire and reduces this drama to the kind of laborious yawn Americans sometimes mistake for quality in the hands of the Brits. Fleming's small circle of Cambridge friends and fellow RAF pilots die in similar crashes, and the remaining friends display a stoic emotionlessness that suggests their principle concern will now be finding a fourth for bridge.

Modeled after the pessimistic, wry detectives of sleuth lore, Cybill Shepherd stars in "Stormy Weather" (ABC, May 4) as a Los Angeles private investigator who goes after the vanished brother of an Italian aristocrat.

THIS WEEK

John Stamos

FUN, Fun, Fun: Mike Love and Bruce Johnson of the Beach Boys guest on a two-part episode of ABC's "Full House" beginning Tuesday, May 5. In it, Jesse (John Stamos), lands a record deal and stars in his own music video. • The Bundys travel to London on the three-part season finale of "Married With Children," beginning Sunday, May 3, on Fox. • On Tuesday, May 5, ABC airs the news special "Peter Jennings Reporting: Men, Sex and Rape." Later that night, Jennings will moderate an ABC News forum on the topic. • Geraldo Rivera plays a murder victim in the appropriately titled "Perry Mason: The Case of the Reckless Romeo," airing Tuesday, May 5, on NBC. Raymond Burr stars. • Ray Sharkey is a busy man on Wednesday, May 6. He guest-stars on CBS's "Jake and the Fatman" and appears in the USA Network original movie "Chrome Soldiers" that night. • Pat Harrington ("One Day at a Time") guest-stars on "The Trials of Rosie O'Neill," Saturday, May 9, on CBS. • NBC airs its second "Dame Edna's Hollywood" comedy special on Saturday, May 9. Kim Basinger, Chevy Chase, George Hamilton and Robin Williams appear in the talk-show parody.

SOAP SCOOP

Queen Kim lends her royal presence to 'SB'

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

Would a queen miss her own coronation? From off stage came the very familiar voice of Kim Zimmer (who formerly played Reva Shayne Lewis on "Guiding Light") as 1972 high-school prom queen Jodie Walker, who made her way to the class's recent 20th-anniversary reunion to be crowned anew.

And so soap queen Zimmer

Kim Zimmer

was recently introduced onto "Santa Barbara," making the most theatrical entrance since the heyday of "Hello, Dolly!"'s Dolly Levi. But writing characters larger than life has always been a trademark of new "SB" head writer Pam Long. Zimmer played Long's alter ego Reva on "GL" for almost eight years, so it was not much of a surprise when Long created the role of Jodie for Zimmer soon after her own arrival at "SB."

"SB" has always been home to sophisticated, cerebral, neurotic characters, as typified by the suave C.C. Capwell (played by Jed Allan) and his intellectual son Mason (played by Gordon Thomson). Long (who got her acting and writing start on "Texas") is known for her upfront, country-bred characters, such as the entire Lewis family on "GL."

Introducing the strong and popular Zimmer onto "SB" was both a ratings move and a statement about the kind of characters Long will be adding to the show. After all, "SB" often rumored to be on NBC's chopping block, needed a jolt of change.

In metamorphosing itself, "SB" has turned into a very strange viewing experience of late. In her first scene at the reunion (which in both plot and production appeared to be copied from the high-school reunion scene of the 1986 film "Peggy Sue Got Married"), Jodie immediately threw down the gauntlet. Reunited with her childhood buddy, "widower" Cruz Castillo (A Martinez), Jodie urged, "You've got to stop worshipping Eden as a religion. She was only a woman with her noodles half-cooked."

Jodie isn't Reva, though. She's more down-to-earth, a cop with a husband and nearly grown children. Still, Zimmer is an actress who immediately takes charge. She has already proven to be a strong acting partner for Martinez, whose character is just beginning to be romantically involved with his "dead" wife's sister Kelly (played by Eileen Davidson).

It has only been a few weeks, so Zimmer and Long haven't yet saved the show. But Long's overpowering introduction of Jodie has certainly made a statement: change... or is that charge?

IN FOCUS

Nigel Havers stars as RAF pilot Hugh Fleming in the four-part "Masterpiece Theatre" presentation of "A Perfect Hero," beginning Sunday, May 3, on PBS (check local listings). The miniseries, which is inspired by the experiences of British ace Richard Hillary, follows Fleming through his college days through his rehabilitation and readjustment after being shot down and badly burned during the early days of the Battle of Britain.

Interior Design Course Offered

Garrett Community College, Continuing Education Division, has scheduled a Fundamentals of Interior Design course, to begin May 1, at the Oakland Center of the college. It will meet from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. each Friday through June 12.

Topics to be presented include color schemes; surface, wall and floor coverings; windows; furniture styles; accessories and art.

For more information, persons may call 334-8304.

Campground At Deep Creek Lake State Park Opens

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources has announced the official opening of the campground at Deep Creek Lake State Park for the 1992 recreational season.

The campground has 112 campsites that can accommodate a variety of camping units, including tents, trailers, and motorhomes. Four heated wash-houses provide hot water and shower facilities.

Several renovations were completed to prepare the campground for this summer. Camping pads have been upgraded, bulletin boards, restrooms painted, and the amphitheater prepared for interpretive programs. A naturalist has been employed for the summer that will provide outdoor education programs for visitors as well.

All of the campsites are available through a reservation system, which can be reached at 301-387-7877. For general information about this and other facilities and services available at Deep Creek Lake State Park, persons may call 301-387-5563.

Local Neighborhood Watch Group Meets

The Neighborhood Watch group, Bear Creek Delta, met at the Accident Elementary School April 14.

Items of business included election of officers for 1992. Harry Miller and James Moore were re-elected as chairpersons, Hugh McCormick was appointed advisor to the chairpersons, Cathy Moore was elected treasurer and Francis Miller, chaplain.

Plans for the annual picnic at Pleasant Valley 4-H center on July 12 were made and a committee was selected to plan the meal.

Jan Leverancy, treasurer for 1991, gave an annual report on last year's finances. Dues for 1992 were collected also.

The chairman's annual report was prepared and a copy given to each member.

Trooper James Moore reported on area activities. Several law enforcement agencies praised the group for its crime prevention efforts.

Mrs. Christiansen To Lead Mother's Day Discussion

"The Family Can Be Eternal" is the scheduled topic of discussion for Wednesday, May 6, at 7 p.m., at the Deep Creek Branch, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Loretta Piper Christiansen, a young mother and resident of Oakland, will lead the discussion.

The topic will center around the importance of the family, developing and keeping loving family relationships, ideas on how to have a successful family, and how a family can be together forever, according to a spokesperson.

The local meeting house is on John Drive, Oakland. For further information, persons may contact John White, president of the Deep Creek Branch, at 334-4759; Elders Shirts and Pollack at 334-5633; or Elder and Sister Harline at 334-3124.

DNR Releases Report On Boat Usage At Lake

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources has recently released a summary of peak boating use studies conducted on Deep Creek Lake during the years of 1987-1991.

The studies were conducted by the State Forest and Park staff from the Deep Creek Lake Management Office. Included is data on peak use boating levels, static boat counts, the impact of various user groups, densities, and growth trends. Boat counts were made on the lake surface itself as well as aerial counts by plane.

According to Lake Manager Paul Durham, the information is very important for use in developing long term management policies on the lake. By continuing with the studies on an annual basis, trends in boating use can eventually be established. Future year's studies will need to combine user satisfaction statistics with the actual boat usage data as well.

Peak boating use on Deep Creek Lake generally occurs on summer weekends and holiday afternoons during the summer recreational season. Boat counts during these times fluctuate between a level of approximately 200 to 400 boats.

Durham stated that the success of these boat count studies is a result of the cooperation received from the area businesses, property owners, and boaters.

Copies of the study are available at the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area Office, located at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

SPRINGTIME, Kentucky Derby Style

Someone once said the Kentucky Derby owns something that no other horse race can claim: the first Saturday in May. For on that day, the world pauses as its most spectacular Thoroughbreds compete in the historic Run for the Roses — the "greatest two minutes in sports."

The Southern elegance of this colorful Kentucky spring day is captured in Kentucky Derby parties everywhere. As with the spring classic itself, appropriate Derby party attire might best be described as "festively spring": floral hats, complemented by blossoming sun dresses; jackets and blazers in full bloom. Even Mother Nature dresses for the Derby, with flowering azaleas, dogwood trees and brightly colored tulips in full bloom.

Entertaining reaches its peak with food and drink the focal point. Derby party recipes typically feature Southern-style cooking, often including a splash of Kentucky Bourbon, a 200-year-old tradition for kitchens in the South.

And, of course, there is the mint julep — the drink almost as famous as the Derby itself.

The commonality between Kentucky Derby Thoroughbreds and bourbon is most evident in their proud heritage. All Thoroughbreds trace their lineage to one of three 17th century British stallions; all bourbon can trace its roots to the pioneer spirit of Evan Williams, Kentucky's first distiller, who began distilling his authentic whiskey in 1783.

It is this pure blend of tradition that leads most Southerners to believe that springtime does not begin until the horses are called to the post on that first Saturday in May, and the first mint julep toasts are made.

BOURBON-ORANGE TORTE

|-----------------------|---------------------|
| 1/2 C. butter | 1 C. chopped pecans |
| 1 C. sugar | 2 Oranges |
| 2 beaten eggs | 1/2 Lemon |
| 2 1/2 C. cake flour | 1 C. sugar |
| 1 tsp. baking powder | 3 Tbs. bourbon |
| 1 C. sour milk* | Whipped Cream |
| 1 tsp. soda | |
| 1 pkg. dates, chopped | |

Cream together butter and sugar, and add eggs. Alternately add sifted cake flour with baking powder and sour milk* to which soda has been added. Add dates and pecans.

*Dilute one small can evaporated milk with water to make one cup. Add 1 Tbs. vinegar to make 1 C. sour milk to be used in recipe.

Bake in tube pan at 350 F. one hour.

Topping: grate rinds and juice oranges and lemons. Stir in sugar and bourbon. Pour over hot cake. Cool in pan. Serve with whipped cream.

Serves 10 to 12.

FIRST SATURDAY IN MAY PIE

- | | |
|------------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 unbaked pie shell (9 inch) | 1 1/2 Tbs. bourbon |
| 1 stick melted butter | 1/2 C. chocolate chips |
| 1 C. sugar | 1 C. nuts |
| 1 C. white corn syrup | Whipped Cream |
| 4 eggs, beaten slightly | |

Mix butter, sugar, corn syrup, eggs and bourbon. Sprinkle chocolate chips and nuts on bottom of pie shell. Pour the butter mixture over chips and nuts. Bake at 350 F. 45 minutes. May be made ahead and frozen. Garnish with whipped cream and strawberries. Serves 6 to 8.

ORANGE-BOURBON CHICKEN BREAST

- | | |
|------------------------------------|---------------------|
| 2 boneless chicken breasts, halved | 1/2 C. orange juice |
| 1/2 C. butter | 2 oz. bourbon |
| 1 tsp. basil | 2 C. cooked rice |

Melt butter in frying pan. Sprinkle basil on both sides of chicken breasts and saute on medium heat until chicken is done and slightly browned. For sauce, deglaze pan with orange juice and bourbon, simmering until reduced slightly. Place chicken breasts on rice and top with sauce. Serves 2 or 3.

REVERSE MANICOTTI BOURBON STYLE

- | | |
|-------------------------------|-----------------------|
| FILLING: | 3 bay leaves |
| 1 1/2 lb. ground turkey | 2 1/2 C. bourbon |
| 1/2 C. butter or margarine | 10 oz. tomato puree |
| 1/2 C. chopped onion | 2 Tbs. Worcestershire |
| 1 tsp. minced garlic | 1/2 tsp. oregano |
| 8 oz. fresh mushrooms, sliced | 1 box manicotti |
| 1/2 C. catsup | |

Brown turkey in butter. Add onion and garlic. Cook until onion is tender. Add remaining ingredients, except manicotti. Simmer 1 1/2 hours. Remove bay leaves. Remove 1/2 cup of filling for sauce. Set aside.

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| SAUCE: | 1 16 oz. carton sour cream |
| 1 can cream of chicken soup | 1/2 C. filling set aside |
| 1 lb. grated cheddar cheese, divided | 1/2 C. bourbon |

Blend together all ingredients except 1/2 lb. cheese. Set aside.

Cook manicotti according to package directions adding 1 tsp. salt and 2 Tbs. olive oil to water.

Stuff cooked manicotti with filling. Place in casserole dish. Pour sauce over manicotti. Bake at 375 F. for 30 minutes. Top with remaining cheese. Bake 15 minutes more. Serves 4 to 6.

BAKED BEANS

- | | |
|---------------------------|--|
| 2 28 oz. cans baked beans | 1/2 C. strong coffee (best if left over from the morning's brew...not fresh) |
| 1/2 C. chili sauce | |
| 1/2 C. bourbon | |
| 1 tsp. dry mustard | |

Combine all ingredients. Pour into 2 quart casserole dish. Bake at 350 F. one hour. Serves 4 to 6.

BARBEQUED CHICKEN

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------|
| 2 to 4 skinless boneless chicken breasts, halved | 1 tsp. finely chopped onion |
| 3 Tbs. margarine | 1/2 tsp. garlic powder |
| 1 8 oz. can tomato sauce | 1/2 C. bourbon |
| 1/2 C. firmly packed brown sugar | 1 tsp. black pepper |
| 1 Tbs. soy sauce | 1 C. catsup |
| | 1/2 tsp. chili powder |

In large skillet, melt margarine; add chicken breasts cut in half and flattened as much as possible. Sprinkle with salt if desired. Allow to simmer in margarine until tender. Remove chicken from skillet, leaving the margarine. Pour the tomato sauce in the skillet, stir in remaining ingredients as listed. Allow to simmer until all flavors are blended and sauce is thickened slightly. Place chicken breasts back in skillet and allow to simmer in sauce for 10 minutes. Serves 4.

HEAVENLY PORK WITH STRAIGHT OLD JULEP SAUCE

- | | |
|----------------------------------|--|
| FOR THE ROAST | 1 small white onion, chopped |
| 1 3 to 4 pound loin pork roast | 1 bay leaf |
| Juice of one lemon | 2-3 Tbs. finely chopped fresh parsley |
| 1 Tbs. light brown sugar, packed | 4-5 Granny Smith apples, halved, cored and unpeeled |
| 1 tsp. all-purpose flour | 8-10 dried pitted prunes, soaked at least 15 minutes in bourbon, well drained. |
| 1 tsp. paprika | |
| 1/2 tsp. salt | |
| Freshly ground black pepper | |
| 1/2 C. bourbon (or to taste) | |

Pre-heat the oven to 325° F. Rub the roast with lemon juice. Mix together the sugar, flour, paprika and salt; rub on roast. Add pepper. Place the roast on a meat rack in a roasting pan and sprinkle with 1/4 cup bourbon. Add bay leaf and onion to pan. Sprinkle roast with parsley. Cover. Insert meat thermometer and cook until 170° F. 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Make "Straight Old Julep Sauce." After the first 1/2 hour, pour remaining bourbon over roast; continue cooking covered. 20 minutes before end of cooking time, stuff each apple half with a prune and arrange the apples cut side down, in an overlapping layer around the roast. Brush the roast and apples with sauce. (By the time the roast is cooked, the apples will be tender.)

Serve the roast slices with a half apple and prune brushed with sauce. Serves 4 to 6.

STRAIGHT OLD JULEP SAUCE

- | | |
|------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 1/2 C. apple juice | 1/2 tsp. dry mustard |
| 1/2 C. honey | 1/2 tsp. salt |
| 1 Tbs. fresh strained orange juice | 2 Tbs. bourbon |
| 1 tsp. finely grated orange zest | 1/2 tsp. cornstarch |
| | 1 Tbs. snipped mint leaves |

Heat apple juice, honey, orange juice, orange zest, mustard and salt to boiling. Mix bourbon and cornstarch; stir into sauce. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils. Boil and stir 1 full minute.

Brush on roast in the last 1/2 hour of cooking time and serve with roast. Makes 1 cup sauce.

Presenting

Creating a Nation of Neighbors

During American Home Week, Americans will celebrate their constitutional freedom to own property. With ownership of property there's often the desire to improve it, to enhance its value -- because this value is measured not only in dollars but in terms of enjoyment and pride in the place that a person calls home.

"Great Salt Out" Helps Reduce High Blood Pressure

Restaurants throughout Maryland will encourage their customers to enjoy the natural flavor of food during The Great Salt Out on May 6, sponsored by the American Heart Association - Western Maryland Division.

By removing salt shakers from their tables for the day, restaurants will prove that food can taste good without added salt. The event is being co-sponsored by Kaiser Permanente and Parsley Patch Salt-Free Blends, manufactured by McCormick and Company.

May is National High Blood Pressure Month and the Great Salt Out reminds persons that the first step in lowering high blood pressure in some individuals is taking the salt shaker off the table.

"Heavy sodium consumption increases blood pressure in some people. High blood pressure is a major risk factor for heart attack and stroke," said Ann C. Sherrard, chairman of the American Heart Association's Garrett County Branch Community Site Committee.

According to the American Heart Association, the human body requires only one-half gram of sodium daily. The average American overloads consumption, taking in 6-18 grams of salt daily.

"Because most foods in their natural state contain sodium," said Sherrard, "one must be aware of both natural sodium content and added sodium content. Because most of the sodium we consume is contained in prepared foods, a good way to limit salt in the diet is to read labels on prepared foods. Consumers should be on the lookout for the word 'sodium' and the symbol 'Na.' These terms identify products that contain sodium compounds."

Another tip for reducing salt intake, suggests Sherrard, is to take the salt shaker off the table. "Foods may taste a little bland at first, but sodium substitutes may help. Eventually, food with added salt will not taste good."

She continued, "Preparing meals at home is the easiest way to cut down on sodium intake. Try adding half as much salt to foods - better yet, eliminate it totally. At restaurants, be specific about ordering and request no salt be used in food preparation."

Members of the Garrett County Branch Salt Out Task Force are Ann C. Sherrard, M.P.H., R.D., from the Garrett County Health Department; Kathy Athey and Wendy Wakefield, Dietary Department of Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Jean Eberly, assistant in Food Services for the Garrett County Board of Education; and Irmgard R. Koscielniak, Cooperative Extension Service.

For more information on high blood pressure and sodium, interested persons may contact the local American Heart Association Office at 301-334-5985.

EMS Personnel To Be Recognized At Reception

A spokesman for the Region I Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council has announced that a special awards reception will be held at the Lane Center of Frostburg State University on May 14 at 7 p.m. The program will recognize the years of service emergency medical technicians and cardiac rescue technicians have given their communities, with special awards for outstanding contributions.

Constance Spates, Region I EMS Advisory Council president, stated, "The past year has been one with many challenges to emergency medical services in Maryland. Budget cuts threatened to destroy the program, which had been recognized as a model for the rest of the country. Fortunately monies were restored to the program during the spring legislative session. The awards reception will be an opportunity to celebrate the State's commitment to maintain the high level of EMS care Marylanders have come to expect."

This year's award reception is being paid for by Memorial Hospital and Medical Center of Cumberland, Inc., Sacred Heart Hospital, Frostburg Hospital, Inc., and Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The program will feature Leon Hayes, a cardiac rescue technician from Southern Maryland. Hayes will share his experiences from a recent visit to Russia, where he took part in a cultural exchange program with their EMS program.

Ms. Spates invited all first responders, EMTs, CKTs, and EMT-Ps to attend. For additional information or reservations for the reception, individuals should contact the MIEMSS Region I Office at 895-5934 or 746-8636.

Local Students Urged To "Save A Sweet Heart"

In an effort to combat cigarette smoking among middle and high school students, area schools participated in Save A Sweet Heart (SASH), an American Heart Association smoking intervention program.

During the month of February, students attending schools through Allegany and Garrett counties were encouraged by their peers to help smokers quit and prevent nonsmokers from starting.

A group of students from each school, called the SASH Team, promoted this anti-smoking message by hanging SASH posters throughout their schools and making announcements over the intercom. These teams urged fellow students to take the SASH pledge not to smoke on February 14, the culmination of this month-long program.

Some 1,360 students from participating schools in Garrett County took the smokers' pledge and refrained from smoking on SASH Day.

"This program has proven to be quite effective in curbing cigarette smoking among teenagers. We attribute a large part of this success to the students themselves," commented Karen M. Griffin, associate director of the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Division. "It's their program from beginning to end. Faculty advisors were on hand to lend advice and support but the students organized and planned the strategies needed to carry out this project themselves."

The American Heart Association is the largest non-profit organization dedicated to reducing disability and death from cardiovascular diseases and stroke. The AHA conducts community programs and supports research through a variety of fundraising events.

For more information on the American Heart Association's school programs, persons may call (301) 334-5885.

Pathfinder Club To Hold Free Car Wash This Sunday

The Mountaintop Pathfinder Club from the Mountaintop Seventh-Day Adventist Church is holding a free car wash this Sunday, May 3, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Pizza Hut, Rt. 219, Oakland. The car wash is being sponsored by several local businesses.

According to club director, Tom Blakeney, the club is currently involved in fund-raising events, with proceeds to be used to purchase uniforms and for a club trip to Hershey Park.

Special Menu At Silver Tree Inn To Benefit ACS

"People are confused about the link between nutrition and cancer risk," says Lucy Burnett, R.N., president of the Garrett County Unit of the American Cancer Society. "Even those who are aware of the link do not always know how to act upon their knowledge."

To help people become more aware of meals that might reduce their risk of cancer, the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake, will be offering menu selections from the American Cancer Society Cookbook during the month of May.

"The American Cancer Society nutrition guidelines are based upon an exhaustive review of more than 30 years of epidemiologic and laboratory data," Burnett said. "But the good news is that these guidelines are not restrictive and can be easily followed and inexpensive."

"Often," she said, "it's just learning to make simple substitutions to improve the nutritional value of recipes. Sometimes, it's learning how to cook meat and fish properly to reduce fat. Or it could be learning how to pick the best sources of fiber."

According to Elaine McDonald, one of the owners of the Silver Tree Inn, these changes "are simple, yet

ACS MEALS OFFERED AT SILVER TREE - The American Cancer Society and The Silver Tree Inn will be joining together to make local residents more aware of the link between nutrition and cancer by offering special menu selections during the month of May. A portion of the proceeds from the dinners will be donated to the American Cancer Society. Shown choosing recipes to be featured on the menu are Elaine McDonald, one of the owners of the Silver Tree Inn, and Lucy Burnett, R.N., president of the local unit of the American Cancer Society.

"Basically, our promotion will be stressing choice," she said. "People can make a difference in their diets by choosing foods and methods of preparation that are healthy and good tasting."

Also, for each health selection ordered during the month, the Silver Tree Inn will donate a portion of the proceeds to the American Cancer Society.

Burnett stated, "This financial support of the local unit will help to continue research, as well as provide educational programs for local residents and limited financial assistance for local cancer patients."

"We at Silver Tree Inn are proud to team up with the American Cancer Society to educate local residents about nutrition and cancer," McDonald said. "I'll bet people will be amazed at how easily they can change their diets. Some of them might even start making some delicious discoveries. The Silver Tree Inn wants every customer to know that we care about their health and that we will make every effort necessary to meet their dietary needs."

Humberson Art Is Selected For Special Exhibit

Oakland resident Tracy Humberson was among 14 Shepard College students whose work has been selected for Honors 92, Shepherd's annual jurored student art competition.

From approximately 111 entries in the show, which featured work by graphic design, photography, and printmaking students, 18 were selected by jurors Michael Hardesty and Sandra Cundiff for inclusion in the exhibit.

Hardesty, a critically-acclaimed graphic designer and illustrator, is represented by Germans Van Eyck Gallery in New York. Cundiff is a painter who owns and manages a design firm.

Humberson is the daughter of Karla Riley and Fred Humberson, Route 3, Oakland. A 1987 graduate of Southern High School, she is a graphic design major at Shepherd. Her work included in the honors show was titled "CD Package."

Located in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle, Shepherd College is a state-supported institution offering two- and four-year college degrees in liberal arts, business administration, teacher education, and the social and natural sciences. Shepherd is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

On Honors List

Courtney Llewellyn Smith, a junior at Washington and Lee University, has earned honor roll status for the recently ended winter term.

Honor roll status at Washington and Lee represents a term grade-average of at least 3.5 on a 4.33 scale.

Ms. Smith is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Manning L. Smith, Mountain Lake Park.

DAR Chapter Convenes, Hears Major Peterson

The ladies of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met April 19 at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Mrs. Lillian Reckner, regent, opened the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Porter, chaplain.

Mrs. Rosanne Sherwood presented the President General's report which was a commemorative of the battle of Lexington that touched off the Revolutionary War.

Mrs. Wilda Sanders, reporting from the National Defense magazine, stated that a think tank based in Dallas, Texas, the National Center for Policy Analysis, says that there are myths in the arguments for National Health Insurance. For example, all persons would not receive equal access to the program and that there could be long waiting lists for persons needing surgery.

The chapter voted to use monies remaining in the Essay Certificates and Medallions area of the budget to support the State Regent's project.

Mrs. Reckner introduced Major Tom Peterson, Oakland, Army Reserve officer with the 348th General Hospital, Folsom, Pa.

Major Peterson spent from December 1980 to March 1991 in the Desert Storm Campaign. After intensive training in chemical warfare at Aberdeen Proving Ground, he was shipped to Eskan Village, Ryad, a village in the Saudi Arabian Desert built for Bedouins by the king. He was stationed at the Saudi Arabian National Guard Hospital, a hospital that had been converted from a 400- to a 700-bed facility. He worked as a member of the medical team in anesthesia. As they continued intense training in chemical warfare, Peterson worked with a decontamination team. He described vividly the "mop" suit, the chemically protective gear with which they had to struggle in performing their daily work.

He saw first hand scud missile attacks that were intercepted by the Patriot defense system and photographed one that landed not far from the hospital. The villa that he shared with other officers afforded comfortable living facilities and was convenient to the hospital. A familiar sight from his window was the townspeople saying their prayers at their minarets.

Major Peterson, though with war apprehension, said he found his working experience and his association with the Saudi culture "a real educational experience."

The next meeting of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter will be a dinner at 6 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp. The program will be the installation of officers.

GOBA Meets; Several Items Are Discussed

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) met Tuesday, April 14, and members discussed several topics, including the upcoming Fresh Air Festival, the Southern High School after-prom party, and a marketing study and conceptual plan for downtown Oakland.

The Fresh Air Festival will be held May 23-24 (Memorial Day weekend) in Oakland. An "out-house race" is scheduled on May 23 in the town parking lot, beginning at 2 p.m. Trophies for the race have been donated by Rob Michael of State Farm Insurance. Connie Margison will be in charge of a craft show in the Mountain Fresh Produce building.

A party will be held for Southern High School students on May 9 following this year's prom. Three local car dealerships have donated $500 toward the purchase of a used car to be given away in a raffle at the party. Other donations are still needed to coordinate the entire evening of events. The GOBA list of businesses will be given to the organizers of the event so they may contact the businesses. Marvin's Men's Wear and State Farm Insurance will offer "good neighbor" free taxi service.

GOBA has received a commitment of ARC planning funds to do a marketing study and conceptual plan for the downtown area. The conceptual work includes facade design work for Second Street, proposals for the town park area adjacent to the free town parking lot, and proposals for possible use of the train station. These are two of the ideas which arose during the late October meeting, which was open to the public and held at the Oakland Country Club. The staff of the Maryland Office of Planning met March 25th with Mayor Asa McCain and Peggy Jamison, councilperson.

A circus is planned for Saturday, June 6. Money raised in the event will benefit GOBA. Banners (30"x48") may be purchased for $39. A coloring contest will be held.

A new parking meter decoration campaign is underway. Four parking meters will be decorated with wooden black bears. The cost of the decoration is $7 each, and store owners may purchase bears for the meters in front of their stores.

GOBA members were informed that the Mountain Laurel Garden Club want to provide labor for landscaping at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland, but need donations from local businesses and other interested parties to provide the materials and other necessities. Any person who is interested in participating may contact Diane Thayer at 387-9439.

A public rest room is needed in the new City Hall building. Business owners are asked to contact City Hall to recommend this addition.

Sandy Major of Garrett Community College was in attendance and announced that a customer service course will be offered at GCC beginning in May. The college may also be able to custom design a class for any business who may wish for it.

The Golden Years

by Melissa Groves

How willing are older people to spend a day following grade-school pupils through classroom and other activities? When a school in Doylestown, Pennsylvania, held its latest Grandparents Day, close to 500 seniors turned out. "I like to see kids' faces light up when we come into the classroom," said one visitor. School officials say Grandparents Day convinces older residents that school taxes are well spent.

Anthony Benedetto started his career in 1951 as a singing waiter in a New York Club. Bob Hope, who was appearing at the Paramount Theater, heard him sing one night and promised to put him on the stage. But, Hope told the singer, his name was too long for a theater marquis. So, it's as Tony Bennett that the singer, at 65, celebrated 40 years in show business - having played about 200 singing dates a year.

Remember When? 1935 - "Muting on the Bounty" was such a hit movie that all three stars - Clark Gable, Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone - were nominated as best actor of the year. But the Oscar went to Victor McLaglen for his role in "The Informer."

VIVA, Garrett County Memorial Hospital's volunteer program that was launched May 6, 1991, was coordinated by seven women. In less than a year, the corps of volunteers in the program has grown to 55 active members and 17 inactive members, who have collectively contributed over 7,600 volunteer hours of service.

VIVA operates from an informational desk located in the hospital's main lobby, but also has members in various other areas of the hospital, such as laundry, medical records, physical therapy, and planning and program development. There is a flower committee and a book cart committee. Members have participated in inventories, surveys, and special health programs. They perform many clerical duties, run errands, make deliveries, and other services too numerous to mention.

VIVA volunteers have become an important part of the overall operation of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and they plan to expand their services in all areas. More volunteers are welcome and needed, and those wishing to join the organization or obtain more information are invited to call the hospital at 334-2155 and ask for the VIVA desk, or contact Betty Malloy at 387-9213.

DNR Park Rangers Increase Role In War On Drugs

The Department of Natural Resources Forest and Park Service Substance Abuse Unit has dramatically increased its successes in the war on drugs in Maryland, according to DNR Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D.

The announcement is based, in part, on a 1991 Grant Report on the Maryland Marijuana eradication Program, issued by the Maryland State Police, that shows law enforcement personnel are finding more marijuana gardens growing on Maryland's public lands.

Secretary Brown noted that this fact is of major significance since marijuana growers are choosing sites, such as the state's public land, that cannot be traced back to them.

During 1991, 627 out of 11,210 (5.6%) of all marijuana plants eradicated were found in state parks and forests. Greenridge State Forest contributed 98.6% of the highly potent Routerallis variety found in the state (218 of 221 plants).

It is estimated that $1,496,500 of the potential $12 million (12.5%) of the street value of marijuana seized through the program was a direct result of DNR's Forest and Parks Substance Abuse Unit's activity. DNR's Forest and Park Service also seized $20,600 in assets during the year.

A strong indicator of the program's success is that the eradication total of the unit (627) is higher than the total in each county except for seven, Torrey said.

DNR is responsible for the law enforcement and protection of 46 forests and parks statewide.

Court Curbs EPA's Wetlands Regulatory Authority

The 7th Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago has issued a ruling that curbs the federal government's authority to regulate wetlands.

The court ruled last week the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency overstepped its authority when it fined a home builder for filling in a depression in a 48-acre cornfield near Chicago. It questioned the validity of a standard that EPA uses when asserting regulatory power over isolated wetlands.

The ruling is significant because it draws a "clear and rational line as to what waters are regulated under the federal Clean Water Act," according to American Farm Bureau Federation assistant counsel Rick Krause. It is also the first case that speaks to the "over-reaching" regulation by federal agencies, and it more clearly defines waters that are permissible to regulate.

EPA had claimed authority based on the potential of the site, which covers eight-tenths of an acre, to serve as a landing spot for migratory birds.

In its ruling, the court found that some wetlands may fall outside of federal control if they are "isolated" or sites not directly associated with a river or lake.

The ruling rejected arguments that an interstate commerce standard could be used by the EPA when asserting regulatory power over "isolated" wetlands, simply because they may be used by migratory birds as a stopover on the way to their winter habitat.

Judge Daniel Monion, who wrote the opinion, said that in order for an isolated wetland to receive federal EPA protection under the commerce clause, humans must use it in some way.

"Not only is there no evidence that interstate travelers came to the 'wetland' to watch or photograph birds, there is no evidence that migratory birds of any feather ever used (the site)," the ruling said. "The birds do not engage in commerce."

Krause said this ruling

Farming in Maryland Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

affirms the original intent of the Clean Water Act, which covers navigable waters of the U.S. and "is not contrary to what other courts have said." He explained that a 1985 Supreme Court ruling decided that wetlands adjacent to navigable waters also are covered under the Clean Water Act, so a federal agency could assert jurisdiction over them. But that ruling "said nothing to indicate isolated wetlands are covered under the Clean Water Act."

This case involved "nothing more than a self-contained hole with water - an isolated wetland," Krause said. "It is an example of water that should not be subject to federal regulation."

The Chicago area case began in the mid-1980s when the builder, Hoffman Homes, was developing a subdivision and filled in the disputed "wetland." The company was unaware that the site was a wetland until the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers notified the firm.

The Corps asked Hoffman Homes to apply for an "after the fact" permit to fill the land but the EPA objected and filed a complaint against the company in 1988, fining it for destroying a wetland without a permit. It was one of the first cases in which a company was affected by EPA's new regulatory powers under the amended Clean Water Act.

Hoffman contested the fine and the case eventually went before an EPA chief administrative law judge, who doubled the penalty and ordered the company to pay fines totaling $100,000. Hoffman appealed one of the findings.

If EPA decides to appeal the 7th Circuit ruling, it would have to go before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Extension Vet Reports On Success Of QAP Workshops

Livestock Extension Veterinarian Douglas Carmel, of the Virginia/Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Maryland at College Park, has released a report on the series of workshops held last month in three locations across the state, one of those locations being the Pleasant Valley Community Center in Gortner.

Carmel stated that the highpoint of the workshops was the free and candid exchange of ideas among the major groups of people who will be responsible for implementing the Quality Assurance Program (QAP), also known as the Milk and Dairy Beef Residue Prevention Protocol, in Maryland. Private practice veterinarians, milk marketing representatives and regulatory officials were present at each meeting, he reported.

"The open and wide-ranging discussions were an invaluable part of the program. Along with the formal presentations, they helped to clarify the problems and new responsibilities facing all of us in the dairy industry with respect to animal drug use and residue avoidance. We cannot hide from or ignore problems such as consumer concerns over food safety, availability of over the counter (OTC) and prescription (Rx) drugs, and liability when residue violations occur."

He continued, "Neither should we, as veterinarians, point fingers at other people in the industry and demand that they clean up their act before we worry about our own practices. I doubt anyone likes the situation we're in, but that doesn't absolve us from determining a proper response and course of action."

The 10 point QAP, developed by the AVMA and the National Milk Producers Federation, is an appropriate strategy for responding to these problems, according to Carmel. "No one is saying that the QAP is perfect, or that it is the only strategy the dairy industry should be pursuing," he said, and added, "For example, the QAP won't solve the problem of the illegal sale and use of Rx or extra-label use drugs on farms that are not covered by a valid veterinarian-client-patient relationship. Keep in mind, however, that the focus of the QAP is to reduce risks, not eliminate them."

Following are four reasons, from the veterinarians' perspective, why dairymen should participate in the QAP.

1. To promote herd health (production management) services.

The QAP is a preventative medicine approach to drug use and residue avoidance on dairy farms. It outlines a program of basic management principles to reduce the likelihood that a residue violation will occur. Like any herd health program, the methods of implementation are left up to the producer and veterinarian. Although veterinarians or producers are unlikely to initiate a herd health program because of a concern over drug residues, there is no reason why the QAP couldn't fit into an existing preventative health program.

2. To provide information about product quality assurance to the dairy producer.

The QAP, and regulatory changes within the Pasteurized Milk Ordinance (PMO), illustrate a change in the accountability of drug use on farms and a renewed emphasis on pre-harvest food safety (see the summary article on changes to Appendix N of the PMO). These changes make it even more imperative that we work with our clients to help them produce a safe, wholesome and profitable product. To do so requires that we begin to view (and sell) ourselves as quality assurance managers, in addition to our role as doctors of veterinary medicine. If not, the profession may be seen as having "dropped the ball" again and producers will seek other people within the industry to meet their needs. Also a shared commitment to quality assurance can benefit both producers and veterinarians, by maintaining consumer demand for dairy products.

3. To reduce liability when inappropriate drug use occurs.

There is mistaken assumption by some that if there is no paper trail, there is no liability when residues occur. The truth is just the opposite. A paper trail (records to substantiate what you've done to promote responsible drug use and residue avoidance on farms) is the best means of defending your actions if and when a violation occurs. The lack of a paper trail is a big gamble, with the odds of winning stacked against you. Your signature on the QAP certificate signifies that you have reviewed the program with the producer and that he or she understands the 10 critical control points. It does not mean that the producer has agreed to implement each critical control point. As a veterinarian, your major liability lies in the proper labeling and dispensing of drugs. Not only is mislabeling drugs a violation of the PMO, but, it can have disastrous effects on your client. He can lose his permit to sell Grade A milk, or his ability to sell milk in interstate commerce for 15 days.

4. To hold off legislatively mandated controls on the practice of veterinary medicine.

The ability to detect residues has outpaced our ability to determine their impact on human, animal and environmental health. Each time a story about drug residues finds its way into the media, questions are raised by consumers, politicians and others about how drugs are used in food animals. Inevitably, misconceptions occur over the seriousness and magnitude of the problem. The entire food animal industry is constantly confronting this situation of perception v. reality, or emotion v. fact, because consumer concerns are a potent force in molding public policy and law. The failure of a national voluntary program such as the QAP to reduce residue violations could result in regulatory changes in the availability of OTC and Rx drugs, and in FDA's extra-label use drug policy.

Anyone who would like help with educating their clients about the QAP can contact Carmel at (301) 935-6083. Those who would like to recommend changes in the QAP, may contact Dr. Bonnie Buntain, national program leader, Veterinary Medicine, Cooperative Extension Service, USDA at (202) 720-4087. People who have questions about how the production and sale of milk is regulated in Maryland, may contact Richard Nordeck, milk sanitation rating officer, Office of Food Protection, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene at (301) 764-3579. Finally, those who would like to know what the milk marketing organizations in Maryland are doing to implement this program may contact Dr. Bob Peters, Dairy Extension specialist, Department of Animal Sciences, University of Maryland at (301) 405-1401.

Foreign Ownership Of Farms Reported

Foreign interests owned over one percent of all U.S. private farmland as of December 1991, which is an increase from last year, according to USDA. Foreign ownership increased by 419,474 acres from 1990 levels to 14.8 million acres in 1991. However, 53 percent of foreign holdings are owned by U.S. companies with as little as 10 percent foreign-held stock. Reporting laws in the U.S. require that companies register their holdings as foreign if they meet the 10 percent mark. Canadian investors own 25 percent of the foreign-held land and are the largest foreign holders of U.S. farmland. The Japanese hold three percent of all U.S. farmland. Most of the foreign holdings are in the southern and western U.S., USDA said, although the largest foreign holding in any one state is in Maine where Canadians have forest interests.

Report Shows

Brucellosis Low

USDA reported that as of Feb. 29, only 492 beef cattle and dairy herds, out of a total herd population of 1.4 million, were quarantined due to brucellosis in the United States. Out of those herds quarantined, 71 percent were herds of less than 100 head.

A Summary of Appendix N, PMO Requirements

The following outline is a summary of the dairy industry and regulatory agency responsibilities pertaining to Grade "A" Pasteurized Milk Ordinance (PMO) drug residue monitoring and farm surveillance (Appendix N in PMO).

I. INDUSTRY RESPONSIBILITIES

A. Surveillance

1. Shall screen all bulk milk pickup tankers for beta-lactams.
2. Shall randomly screen for other drug residues: (a) all producers must be included; (b) minimum frequency is 4 times in any consecutive 6 months.
3. Shall screen prior to processing milk.
4. Shall retain all "positive" from bulk milk pickup tankers.
5. Shall record all sample results; records kept at least 6 months.

B. Reporting and Farm Traceback

1. Shall immediately notify the regulatory agency.
2. Shall notify of the method of disposition, i.e., rejected? dumped?
3. Shall test individual producer samples.
4. Shall discontinue violative producers shipments until such milk is tested "safe" (at or below the levels set by the PMO).

II. REGULATORY RESPONSIBILITIES

A. Monitoring and Surveillance

1. Shall make unannounced, on-site inspections: (a) collect samples from bulk milk pickup tankers; (b) audit industry records of random sampling program: 1) is it an appropriate monitoring system? (the right drug); 2) is it adequate? (proper tests used); 3) is each producer's milk represented?; 4) is reporting to the regulatory agency timely?; 5) are the violative producer shipments suspended?
2. Shall test collected milk samples for beta-lactams and other drugs.

B. Enforcement

1. Shall dispose of contaminated milk.
2. Shall determine producer responsible for the violation.
3. Shall institute penalties on violative producers: (a) 1st offense - suspension of Grade "A" permit for 2 days; (b) 2nd offense - suspension of Grade "A" permit for 4 days; (c) 3rd offense - 4 day suspension; plus, initiation of procedures towards revocation of permit.
4. Reinstatement of violative producers: (a) tests indicate drug residues do not exceed "safe limit"; (b) producer and veterinarian must sign a Quality Assurance certificate for "display in the milkhouse."

ATTENTION LICENSED VETERINARIANS

Please be advised -- I believe you have a professional duty to require anyone in your presence to wear properly cleaned coveralls, hat, gloves, and boots before entering onto another's private property. If I ever hear of another incident in which you fail to exercise your duties I will have you in front of the STATE LICENSING BOARD for an explanation. You are the authority in animal health, and your duties require you to prevent anyone or anything from spreading disease or stress to animals. This must be your FIRST priority regardless of any laws or humane statute, as without prevention there is no way to control the threat of disease spread, which becomes scientifically more critical in the cases of abused or neglected animals. FOR MORE INFO, may I suggest you contact your MALPRACTICE INSURANCE CO., your STATE ANIMAL HEALTH LAB, or this dumb farmer, DAN GNEGY, 703-465-4303 or 301-334-8397. Webster's Dictionary defines veterinary as the science of treating and preventing diseases of animals, especially of domestic animals. Ask this question: How many animals have I inadvertently exposed to disease and/or killed while I was supposedly accompanying an official of animal rights? Or is it as I read the law, they have to accompany you?

FAMILY VEAL FARMING: A Portrait From The Heart Of America.

Editor's note: The American Veal Association, a non-profit organization of independent veal farmers and allied industries, has submitted this series of articles in an attempt to educate the American public about their product. The series will feature health benefits of veal, the industry's roots, how veal is raised, farm technology, ecology and product safety.

Consumer Update: Veal Is Right For Today.

Today's consumers are demanding more out of life, including the foods they consume. Quality counts in every aspect of their lives. Veal is an excellent choice for meeting the consumer's demand for high standards of quality.

Veal is tailor made for the diets of the health conscious lifestyle. That's because veal is "nutrient-dense." This means that, calorie for calorie, veal provides a high concentration of complete protein. It also delivers significant amounts of niacin, vitamin B-12 and zinc. For the health conscious individual, veal is impressive. A cooked, trimmed, three ounce serving of veal has just 166 calories. Only 50 of those calories are from fat and only 14 calories are derived from saturated fat.

States May Issue Seasonal CDL For Farm-Related Driving

The Federal Highway Administration's rule providing states with the authority to implement seasonal commercial driver's license programs will provide a "good measure of relief" for farm suppliers during critical planting and harvesting periods, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The new rule does raise concerns, however, that certain provisions may be difficult to apply to diverse agricultural situations.

Farm Bureau has been urging that farm-related vehicle operators be exempt from commercial driver's license requirements. The highway administration's recently issued rule will allow states to issue restricted commercial driver's licenses for seasonal agribusiness employees. These include employees of farm retail outlets and suppliers, agricultural businesses, custom harvesters and livestock feeders.

Waived drivers would not be required to take or pass the CDL skills or knowledge tests and the restricted license would have reciprocity in all states. A driver would hold only one license, and also could use that license to drive any other vehicle for personal use. The state must revalidate each restricted CDL for commercial use by con-

Seasonal CDL Provisions

- * States are allowed to issue restricted CDLs for seasonal agribusiness employees.
- * Waived drivers would not be required to take or pass CDL or knowledge tests.
- * Restricted CDL is limited to seasonal periods set by the state, not to exceed 180 days each year.
- * CDL drivers may not operate vehicle beyond 150 miles from place of business or farm currently being served.

PUBLIC NOTICE

According to Sections 2-205 and 6-308, of the Tax-Property Article, a taxing authority is required to hold a public hearing when it plans to impose an actual property tax rate that is higher than the Constant Yield Tax Rate, even if the planned tax rate is the same as last year. The Town of Oakland plans to keep its tax rate at the same rate as last year, but must publish notice of the proposed tax rate. The Town must publish the notice below according to the above noted law. THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND IS NOT INCREASING YOUR TAX RATE!

-Adv 7-31

NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland proposes to increase property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 1992, the estimated assessable base will increase by 4.6%, from $29,400,621 to $30,757,676.

2. If Oakland maintains the current tax rate of $1.20 per $100 of assessment, property tax revenues will increase by 4.6%, resulting in $16,285 of new property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the property tax rate should be reduced to $1.15, the constant yield tax rate.

4. The Town is considering not reducing its property tax rate enough to offset increasing assessments. The Town proposes to adopt a tax rate of $1.20 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 4.3% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $16,285 in additional property tax revenues.

A Public Hearing on the proposed property tax increase will be held at 7:30 p.m., on May 4, 1992, at Oakland Town Hall, 109 South Third Street, Oakland, MD. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged.

Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call (301) 334-2691 for further information.

finning a holder's good driving record prior to each season.

John Datt, executive director of AFBF's Washington office, said in a letter to the highway administration that two specific areas - time limits and mileage limits - may be difficult for states to implement "in a way that provides relief for different agricultural service industries."

The restricted license could be used during the seasonal periods defined by the state, not to exceed a total of 180 days in any 12-month period.

"Unfortunately, once a state selects a seasonal period, certain agricultural industries will be eliminated from the program," Datt said. "For example, custom harvesters would need 180 consecutive days during the fall while retail suppliers would need 90 days in the fall and 90 days in the spring."

The seasonal license program would limit vehicle operation to 150 miles from the employer's place of business or farm currently being served. This raises questions, Datt said.

"Depending upon implementation, this provision may eliminate any relief for custom harvesters" who typically must transport harvesting equipment over distances exceeding 150 miles.

Datt said the state reciprocity issue also raises concerns. Since the seasonal CDL is an actual license, "will holders be able to cross state lines, up to 150 miles, even if the neighboring state chooses not to implement the program or has designated a different seasonal period?" he questioned.

The restricted CDL would be limited to group B and C vehicles. Group B vehicles include any single vehicle with a gross weight rating of 26,001 pounds or more, or any vehicle towing another not in excess of 10,000 pounds. Group C vehicles include any that are designed to transport 16 or more passengers including the driver, or those placarded for hazardous materials.

When transporting hazardous materials requiring placarding, restricted CDL holders would be limited to diesel fuel in quantities of 1,000 gallons or less, liquid fertilizers in vehicles with total capacities of 3,000 gallons or less, and solid fertilizers that are not mixed with any organic substance. No other placarded hazardous materials may be transported by holders of restricted CDLs.

The program requires states to check the driver's record through the commercial driver's license information system and enter each restricted holder's record into that system. Restricted holders would be subject to all CDL disqualification penalties, including the one-year disqualification for driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident or using a commercial motor vehicle while committing a felony.

Soil Moisture Improves Some

By April 26 corn planting was beginning to progress. In spite of a short work week, planting of corn for grain reached 10 percent, only slightly behind 12 percent last year and 11 percent average for the week. Sweet corn was 17 percent planted, spring oats 78 percent, green peas 68 percent and potatoes 66 percent planted. Barley and rye were heading. Fifty-four percent of the acreage has been prepared for spring planting.

An average of only 3.5 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending April 26, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, topsoil moisture rated 11 percent short, 78 percent adequate and 11 percent surplus. Subsoil moisture ended the week 26 percent short, 69 percent adequate and five percent surplus.

Emerald stands of small grains were in mostly good condition. Pastures averaged good condition, with Frederick County and west making progress. Hay supplies remained marginal.

Maryland's progress for week ending April 26 is listed below with the item followed by this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the five-year average.

Crops seeded: Sweet corn, 17, 21, 15; corn for grain, 10, 12, 11; potatoes, 66, 57, 79; spring oats, 78, 66, 78; snap beans, 19, 7, 15. Crops headed: Barley 16, 39, 24; rye, 11, 23, 27; wheat, 0, 4, 2. Fruit bloom: Peaches, 43, 94, 93; apples, 30, 71, 53; strawberries, 16, 47, 39.

WEATHER
Maryland weather for the week ending April 24 was warmer than normal with moderate to heavy precipitation. Precipitation averaged 1.56 inch, ranging from 0.41 at Patuxent to 4.34 inch at Smithsburg. Regional averages were: Western, 2.46; North Central, 1.89; Southern Maryland West of the Bay, 1.41.

Temperatures averaged 61.5 degrees, 4.9 degrees above the normal of 56.6 degrees for the April 18-24 period. Minimum temperatures ranged from the low to the upper 40's. Maximum temperatures ranged from the mid-70's to the mid-80's.

Johnathan Farmer Places In State Horse Judging

A bronze medal for seventh place was earned by Johnathan Farmer, at the Annual Maryland FFA Horse Judging Contest held early this month at Linganore High School in Frederick County. Farmer is a member of the Oakland FFA Chapter.

According to Contest Superintendent Mollie Maslin of Perryman, there were six FFA teams registered with 27 FFA members participating. The contest consisted of a 30 question test designed to evaluate the contestant's knowledge and understanding of color and markings, lameness, blacksmith tools, tack, grooming tools, and parts of the horse. The students then judged four conformation classes and two performance classes at three local horse farms. One set of oral reasons was given by each contestant on the first conformation class.

The top three winning teams in the horse judging contest were: Frederick High School, Linganore High School and Flintstone High School.

Maryland ASCS Office To Provide Crop Insurance Services

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) recently completed training Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) employees to provide another delivery system for the sale of crop insurance. In each state ASCS office, one person is trained in crop insurance sales, and another will be trained in loss adjusting.

In Maryland, producers who are interested in obtaining crop insurance through the state ASCS office, should call Carol K. Wathen, Program Specialist, at 410-381-4550.

FCIC already provides crop insurance through a system of 14,000 private company insurance salespersons and contract loss adjusters. "In an effort to provide farmers with yet another delivery system option, ASCS will sell and service crop insurance in every ASCS state office," Olin S. Davis Jr., chairperson of the Maryland State ASC Committee, said.

The ASCS personnel that have passed FCIC's training and certification in the sale of crop insurance have been authorized to sell crop insurance policies since March 1. Selected ASCS personnel scheduled to be trained by FCIC for loss adjusting began April 27.

"Certification requires that each sales person receive 40 hours of classroom instruction, pass a series of written tests administered by FCIC, and complete continuing education every year," Davis said. While Holstein heifer calves: Return to farm (100 to 120 lbs.), $160.00 to 190.00; beef cross calves, return to farm, up to $180.00.

Hogs: Top quality, $40.75 to 42.10; heavy, $40.00 to 41.00; light, $35.00 to 48.50.

Sows: $26.00 to 31.50. Male hogs: $33.00 to 41.35.

Pasture Time - Be Careful
For a lot of farmers it's been a long winter and the lush growth of pasture is a welcome sight. But be careful in putting your cows out to graze. Pasturing cows too fast can cause digestive upset reducing milk production. This digestive upset can linger on for weeks. Grazing should be limited at first as the rumen bacteria can slowly adjust to the new forage.

One method of limiting the forage is to start grazing early when the grass is short. Many farmers will simply limit the number of hours the cows are allowed to graze. Start off by allowing the cows to graze one to two hours per day. Then gradually increase the time over a two week period. Another method of limiting grazing is to reduce the area to be pastured.

When using any of these methods for introducing the cows to new pasture, there is one important thing to remember. Maintain full feed in the barn when you first put the cows out on pasture. Do not cut back on the forage and grain fed in the barn. As the cows begin eating more pasture you can gradually cut back on the barn feed.

You can successfully make the transition with no de-

Agriculture News

Milk consumption - On a per capita basis, Americans went from consuming 214 pounds of whole milk in 1970 to only 88 pounds in 1990. Skim milk increased from 12 to 23 pounds, and low-fat shot up from 30 to 98 pounds in 20 years.

Did you know? Annual morning glory is a native weed of North America and a close cousin to field bindweed. The roots can go down in the ground more than seven feet and the seeds can lie dormant in the soil for 30 years and still germinate.

Tip - Cut flowers early in the morning or evening when they have the most carbohydrates. Cutting flowers when it's cool also minimizes the amount of air and water they lose. Also, cut them with a sharp knife.

Gypsy Moths Begin To Hatch Down State

Hatching of gypsy moth eggs has occurred at several sites in Southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore, according to Dr. Charles W. Puffinberger, assistant secretary of agriculture.

"The first stage caterpillars are black, hairy, and are about 1/8-1/4 inch long. People will find them clustered on the egg mass, crawling over objects, or blowing in the wind. The tiny caterpillars suspend themselves on silken threads to be spread naturally by the wind," said Puffinberger.

"In spite of the cold, rainy weather we have had this spring, the egg hatch is occurring only slightly later than normal. We usually expect to see egg hatch in mid-April on the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland. Egg hatch occurs as much as two weeks later in the northern and western counties," Puffinberger said.

According to Robert Tichenor, chief of the department's Forest Pest Management Section, gypsy moth caterpillars prefer oaks, but will feed willingly on the leaves of American beech, birch, hawthorn, linden, sweetgum, willow, and apple trees. In addition, there are many trees - such as maple, elm, cherry, hickory, and pine - and some shrubs and ornamental plants that are less desirable to the gypsy moth caterpillars, but are still eaten and often defoliated.

To protect individual trees from damage by gypsy moth caterpillars, property owners should place sticky barrier bands and burlap bandson trees. Sticky bands should be on the trees now and burlap bands should be in place by May 1.

In order to be effective, the sticky bands should be checked daily and the caterpillars destroyed.

In addition to the state-supervised cooperative suppression spray program, which will begin as soon as oak leaves have opened and expanded to 50 percent of their mature size, several counties and many municipalities or community organizations will be conducting activities to deal with the gypsy moth this spring.

For additional information on tree banding or gypsy moth control, contact your County Cooperative Extension Service Office or the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Forest Pest Management Section, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, (410) 841-5922.

To the Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those persons who so generously supported and contributed to our 1992 French exchange program at Southern High School. First, I congratulate those students who gave me the privilege of accompanying them to France for three weeks: senior Kim Wampler; juniors, Tonya Boyce, Melanie Craver, Tammy Eisenstrout, Jon Lane, Candi Parker, Tiffany Powers, Jessica Teets, Addy Wilson, and Alison Winters; and sophomores, Shannon Dabney, Ainsley Powers, and Jennifer Wilson. These young people served as outstanding "ambassadors" of our school and community during their home-stay and travel experience. I also extend my gratitude to Mrs. Doyle Dabney for her support as co-leader of our group while in France.

Secondly, I thank the families of my French students who so willingly opened their doors to receive our guests from Vannes, France. Those students include Jason Barr, Jeff Battista, Tonya Boyce, Melanie Craver, Shannon Dabney, Tammy Eisenstrout, Alayna Harkins, Jon Lane, Tiffany and Ann-Ley Powers, Malyna Swyter, Jessica Teets, Addy Wilson, Jennifer Wilson, and Alison Winters. In addition, I thank Ms. Charlotte Bock and Mr. and Mrs. Louis DeCarlo for extending their hospitality in hosting the adult leaders of our visiting groups from France.

There are many more individuals, organizations, and businesses to thank. Hopefully, you will find all of their names in an ad in this issue of The Republican. We are indeed blessed to live in a community where people are willing to share their resources and talents in order to make worthwhile experiences such as our foreign language exchange programs so successful. This has indeed been a partnership of school and community.

Through our exchange programs, our students and their families, as well as our entire community, can broaden horizons and can build relationships across the borders of nations - relationships which hopefully will continue to grow during the course of a lifetime. I am convinced that, if we continue to make efforts to improve communication and relationships with our brothers and sisters of other nations and tongues, we will live in a world of peace and understanding.

Thank you all for your continued support of our exchange programs.

Sincerely,
Lowell L. Leitzel

On behalf of the many taxpayers in Preston County who benefitted from Volunteer Income Tax Assistance, we thank you and applaud you for using the releases we sent you about the program.

Because of the publicity you provided, taxpayers from all over Preston County heard about VITA and received free assistance in preparing their returns.

There were taxpayers on hand at the Terra Alta Town Hall every Thursday during the February 6 - April 9 period, in spite of frequent inclement weather.

So thank you again for your public service.

Sincerely yours,

The Arthritis Foundation estimates that two million Americans say they have arthritis, but have not seen a doctor for cure. The reason is that many people mistakenly view arthritis as a part of aging for which nothing can really help. The reality is that arthritis can bring pain, limited movement and make ordinary tasks very difficult. But there are ways to help limit its impact and make life with arthritis easier and less painful.

May is National Arthritis Month, and the Arthritis Foundation is encouraging the 660,000 people in the Maryland area with arthritis to take advantage of the many services that can help you maintain or even improve your quality of life, despite the pain and limited movement arthritis may bring.

Seeing a doctor to determine the specific type of arthritis one has is a first step because proper treatment depends on the type of arthritis. In addition to prescribed medical treatment, there are many other options that can help. The Arthritis Foundation's Maryland Chapter offers services such as warm-water exercise classes, self-help courses, support groups and more.

Arthritis can be a serious, painful, crippling condition. But it doesn't have to control your life. I encourage everyone who has arthritis or knows someone with arthritis to contact the Arthritis Foundation today for free information and a listing of local services. Call the Arthritis Foundation, Western Maryland Branch at 759-9111 or 1-800-365-3811, long distance.

Accident Scout Troop Meets For Court Of Honor

Boy Scout Troop #82, Accident, recently held a Court of Honor at the Accident Fire Hall. The troop is under the leadership of Mike Reed, scoutmaster; and Ralph Miller, Don Herman, Dave Hydon, Shawn Patterson, and Rick Chaney, assistant scoutmasters.

The posting of colors was completed by Paul Chevalier and Brian Chaney. The lighting of candles was performed by Jeremy Reed, Tim Williamson, and Jason Herman.

Advancements and merit badges were presented by John R. Pike, committee chairman; and Harold Hoeker, advancement chairman. Rank advancements were presented to Brian Chaney and Jeremy Reed for second class. Aaron Miller and Lee Collins were both presented with Star Rank.

Scouts receiving earned merit badges were Lee Collins - reptile study, space exploration, wilderness survival, leatherwork, first aid, lifesaving, and canoeing; Paul Chevalier - metal work, environmental science, cooking, and camping; Tim Williamson - nature and pets; Jeremy Reed - pets, wood carving, space exploration, sports, and first aid; Aaron Miller - scholarship, rifle, canoeing, swimming, camping, citizenship in the world, and first aid; and Jason Reed - Indian lore, mammal study, pioneering, leatherwork, metal work, wilderness survival, environmental science, and soil water conservation. The scout badge was presented to J.D. Leuba.

Special guest was John Smith, committee member of Troop #31, who presented a program on the Boy Scout World Jamboree. He has attended two jamborees; one in Australia and one in Korea. His presentation focused on events and personal experiences.

American Home Week Activities Set May 3-9

American Home Week, an affirmation of private property rights and the privilege of homeownership, will be celebrated in communities across the nation from May 3-9.

The week-long observance, sponsored each year by the National Association of Realtors, is aimed at reminding individuals, businesses, and industries of their rights and responsibilities as citizens and property owners in an effort to bring people together for the betterment of the community.

Festivities planned by the Garrett County Board of Realtors include two Open House events on May 3 and May 9. Another special event will be the Realtors participation in the Olympic Trials on the Savage River. A real estate information booth will be staffed both days of the event by local realtors.

"These activities reflect the board's efforts to make the residents of Garrett County aware that homeownership is the cornerstone of a thriving community," said Jerry Thayer, president of the Garrett County Board of Realtors.

For additional information on the week's events, interested persons may contact Karen Spiker at 301-387-4700.

GCCToOffer First Aid Course

A Standard First Aid course will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. The class will meet for three sessions: Monday, May 4, Wednesday, May 6, and Monday, May 11, from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

This course will provide the student with the standard techniques of first aid and adult CPR. Certification is provided through the American Red Cross.

For additional information and registration, persons may call the Continuing Education Division at 387-6666, ext. 169.

Revival Services Slated At Hiway Assembly of God

Revival services at the Hiway Assembly of God Church near Kitzmiller will begin Sunday, May 3, with Walter Lambert as the speaker at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The speaker for the Tuesday Harvest Prayer Service will be District Director Kenneth Butrin. Evangelist Alvin Kyle will speak at the remainder of the services Wednesday through Sunday (except Saturday) at 6:30 each evening and at 10:45 on Sunday morning.

Pastor Gail K. Hixon invites the public to attend the services.

Hospice To Hold Memorial Service

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., will be holding its Annual Memorial Service and covered dish dinner on Sunday, May 3, at 5 p.m. at Camp Hickory, located behind Northern High School near Accident.

This service is in memory of deceased Hospice patients and volunteers. Family members of the deceased and Hospice volunteers are urged to attend, as well as friends of Hospice. Rev. Robert Johnson, St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will conduct the worship service. He will be assisted by Father Martin Feild. Special music will be provided by Ross Glosfeldt. A candle will be lighted in memory of each deceased patient and volunteer.

Sally Schwing, chairperson of the event, will be reading special verses and readings requested by the families in memory of their loved ones.

Persons may make reservations to attend by calling Hospice at 334-5151 or 895-3111.

May Bird Count To Take Place This Saturday

The annual county-wide bird count, sponsored by the Maryland Ornithological Society, will take place this Saturday, May 9, over the entire 24-hour period (from midnight to midnight).

Participants may watch birds in field situations or in their backyards at feeders, and may do so for any block of time within the 24-hour period, according to Fran Pope, count coordinator for the county.

Pope also noted that the forms for the count are slightly different this year than in past years. The forms may be picked up at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. She requested that participants inform local coordinators of their plans to count so that the tallying process will be made more effective.

Further information may be obtained by calling Pope at 334-4908 or Connie Skipper, coordinator, at 387-5227.

The results of the count will be published in Maryland Bird Life, a publication of the Maryland Ornithological Society.

Church Of Christ To Hold Special Family Series

"A Better Family Begins With Me" is the theme of a special series of sermons to be presented at the Oakland Church of Christ. According to the local minister, Randy Cook, the series will begin this Sunday, May 3, and continue through Wednesday, May 6.

The guest speaker will be Evangelist Nicholas Deiger, who preaches for the Pumpkin Center Church of Christ in Fairview, W.Va. He has served that church for the past 13 years and currently serves as the president of the Board of Directors of West Virginia Christian Youth Camp. He has been on that Board since 1980.

Deiger's wife, Ruth, works as a radiological technician. They have two children: Nancy, a sophomore at Fairmont State College; and Nicky, a senior at North Marion High School.

The series on the family begins with Bible study at 9:30 on Sunday, with the worship service at 10:30. Sunday evening services begin at 6:30. The weekday services will begin each evening at 7:00. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Lundstrom To Speak At Rocky Drear

Pastor William C. Skipper of the Rocky Drear Assembly of God Church has announced that Rev. Bob Lundstrom, professor of biblical studies at Zion Bible Institute, Barrington, R.I., and an Assemblies of God evangelist, will speak at the local church on May 10-13.

Dr. Lundstrom recently returned from approximately six weeks of ministry in the Latvian, Ukrainian, Siberian, Russian, and Estonian Republics of the former Soviet Union where he and his colleagues ministered to an aggregate attendance of over 22,000 people, according to a spokesperson.

Lundstrom stated that the reception he and his colleagues received was "overwhelming" and that there is a "spiritual hunger amongst the Soviet people that is unparalleled in history."

The reverend was born and reared in New Britain, Connecticut. He received a bachelor of arts degree from Central Bible College, Springfield, Mo.; a master of education degree from Bridgewater (Ma.) State College; a master of arts in theological studies from Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary in South Hamilton, Ma., and was awarded the honorary doctor of divinity degree from Clarksville (Tenn.) School of Theology.

Lundstrom has preached on radio and television programs in various parts of the country and has also traveled extensively throughout the nation.

The programs are open to the public. More information may be obtained by contacting Pastor Skipper at 334-2404.

Ramp Dinner Set May 2 At Gorman Church of God

A ramp dinner will be held at the Gorman Church of God on Saturday, May 2, from noon until 6 p.m.

The menu will include ham and beans, fried potatoes with or without ramps, cole slaw, cake and a beverage. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

Following the dinner, ministry in song will be presented by Roy Poole who has shared the stage with Chubby Checker, Jerry Lewis, and Johnny Steele in an Elvis Tribute. A freewill offering will be taken.

Andrea Schell Weds Donald Shaffer In November Double-Ring Ceremony

Andrea Lynne Schell and Donald Eugene Shaffer were united in marriage on November 29, 1991, at 6 p.m. The double-ring, candlelight ceremony took place at the Faith Evangelical Free Church with the Rev. Harold Harman officiating.

Joe DiSimone sang "You Are The Wind Beneath My Wings" and "You and I" with Lela Paugh as the organist. The bride and groom presented each other with mothers with corsages.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Schell, Bayard, W.Va. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shaffer Sr., Deer Park.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown of ivory crystal organza over satin. The gown featured a fitted bodice with a sweetheart neckline accented with beaded lace appliques sported puffed, ruffled melon sleeves, the bouffant skirt of deep ruffles cascaded to a chapel train. Her headpiece was a v-shaped headband of solid pearls with pouf veiling, accented with pearl sprays and silk flowers. The bouquet was fashioned from royal and light blue cascading silk carnations and sprays of pearls.

The matron of honor was her sister, Patti J. Scott, Davis, W.Va. The bridesmaid was Rebecca L. Davis, Elk Garden, friend of the bride. Flower girl was Miriah Scott, Davis, niece of the bride.

Best man was Mike Tasker, Deer Park, friend of the groom. The usher was Ron Shaffer, Deer Park, brother of the groom.

The reception was held at the Deer Park Fire Hall. The three-tiered, heart-shaped cake was baked by Leota Martin, Rhonda Shaffer, sister of the groom, registered guests. Gene Estill III distributed bird seed packets. A centerpiece and candleholders of royal blue and light blue were made by Barbara Shaffer, aunt of the groom.

Following the ceremony, the couple honeymooned at the Royal Oaks Inn, Deep Creek Lake. The couple set up residence on the Garrett Road in Deer Park.

Guests were from Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

Paugh-Glotfelty Wedding Planned

Hazardous and Solid Waste Management Administration

Notice of Opportunity for Comment on a Proposed Discharge Permit

PUBLIC NOTICE NO: MD 2634

ISSUE DATE: April 30, 1992

The Hazardous and Solid Waste Management Administration (HSWMA) has completed a draft version of the discharge permit listed below and is providing an opportunity for public participation in the decision making. Persons who wish to present information about this proposal may submit written comments to HSWMA no later than June 1, 1992. All comments will be considered in HSWMA's final decision concerning this application. Additionally, if any interested party requests a public hearing on this draft permit, the Director will review the request and may schedule a hearing. A separate hearing notice will then be published.

If the HSWMA receives significant comments adverse to the text of the proposed permit, or if the final text is substantially different from the initial text, the Department will publish a notice of final determination in this same newspaper. This notice will announce the significant changes, if any, which have been made to the permit, and will state the procedure for requesting an adjudicatory hearing.

All information concerning permit applications and proposed permits is on file at the Department of the Environment, HSWMA, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224.

Upon appointment, the files may be inspected Monday through Friday between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Facilities for obtaining copies at a reasonable cost will be available. Written requests for information concerning Industrial Discharge Permits may be addressed to Mr. Richard Collins, Director, HSWMA at the above address. Telephone requests should be made to Ms. Gail Castleman at (410) 631-3305.

Garrett County Discharge Permit Renewal Application No. 91-DP-2278 (NPDES No. MD0061719): The Garrett County Processing and Packaging Corporation operates a peat storage and processing facility located three miles southwest of Bittinger, Maryland. The two outfalls are located on the right side of the road, less than 5,000 gpd of stormwater runoff from this site to the North Branch Casselman River (Basin Code 05.02.02.04, Use I). Proposed requirements: Re-issue permit with limitations on total suspended solids and pH. These effluent limitations are chosen to protect the quality of the North Branch Casselman River.

3 Gardening Hints

1. Inspect the garden at least twice a week for pest damage.
2. Be happy if green lacewings invade your garden, their larvae destroy aphids.
3. Aphids love yellow. Put some water and vegetable oil in a yellow dishpan and set it in your garden. The aphids will be trapped when they land on the water.

Grass clippings, leaves, twigs and other organic yard material plus micro-organisms = rich, useful humus which when added to your soil will improve plant growth by correcting the texture of the soil. On its own, it could take 2 years for compost debris to turn into humus. With the right attention and additives, you can have useable compost in 3-8 weeks. If you maintain the correct mixture of high carbon and nitrogen contents and keep the moisture level consistent - your finished compost will smell like the forest floor and your garden will be blooming beautifully!

Effective solutions

Spraying Tips

These are a few precautionary measures to keep in mind when applying pesticides...

•When handling pesticides, wear unlined rubber or neoprene gloves to protect your hands. DO NOT wear leather or cotton work gloves, they can absorb chemicals and expose your skin to them.

•Wear protective clothing, such as a long sleeved shirt or brimmed hat, whenever suggested on the product label.
